

Friends of Wildlife (FOW)

ANNUAL SPRING WORKSHOP

Saturday, April 11th, 2015

Scio Township Hall

Are you interested in helping FOW feed and care for orphaned wildlife? This annual spring workshop is used to train volunteers with an interest in wildlife rehabilitation how to assist with orphaned squirrels, raccoons and cottontail rabbits. Spring workshop volunteers only work with baby animals and are supervised and mentored by a FOW wildlife rehabilitator. The formula, syringes and nipples etc. used to feed are supplied by FOW.

Please complete this registration form, detach and submit with your workshop fee, postmarked by April 4th. Your timely registration will allow us to have the needed number of workshop materials and refreshments for attendees. Late registration will be taken up to the day of the workshop, however; they will be charged an extra $5.00 per person.
